The Payment House and Swedbank signs agreement

The Payment House is a payment solution provider. Through the use of mPOS technology and its proprietary global end-2-end payment platform, The Payment House provides card terminal, in-app, web, mobile and unattended payment services - secure, fast, easy to integrate and affordable for customers.

The Payment House has been awarded an agreement with Swedbank, one of the leading Nordic banks.

The Parties have agreed that The Payment House will distribute its Miura card terminals and related services to Swedbank's relevant corporate clients. This will be done by utilising Swedbank's branch network, and together with the Bank offer an attractive payment solution.

After more than one year of discussions and corporation in smaller scale, a milestone was passed as we signed this agreement, says Staale Reiersen, CEO of The Payment House. Swedbank has a vast client base and creates a fantastic opportunity to reach a broad market for The Payment House's service offering in selected niches. Swedbank is a very attractive partner and we very much look forward to developing the collaboration.

The Payment House is incorporated in Norway, with offices in Oslo, London, Stockholm, California and Riga.
